

Looking for engaging summer fun for your Campers or Scouts?

PLAN A FIELD TRIP

Responding to the need for a deeper understanding of Long Island history, the Smithtown Historical Society has developed outstanding education programs for school-aged children. Kids will be immersed in the Colonial Period while exploring our twenty-two-acre site and historic buildings and engaging with educators dressed in period attire. After the program, make sure to stop by our farm to meet our friendly animals and enjoy lunch on our beautiful, rustic grounds!

FOR KIDS (Up to 6TH Grade)

$15/child (ages 3 and up)

Min 20 & Max 50 children per visit

Counselors/Troop Leaders and Chaperones free

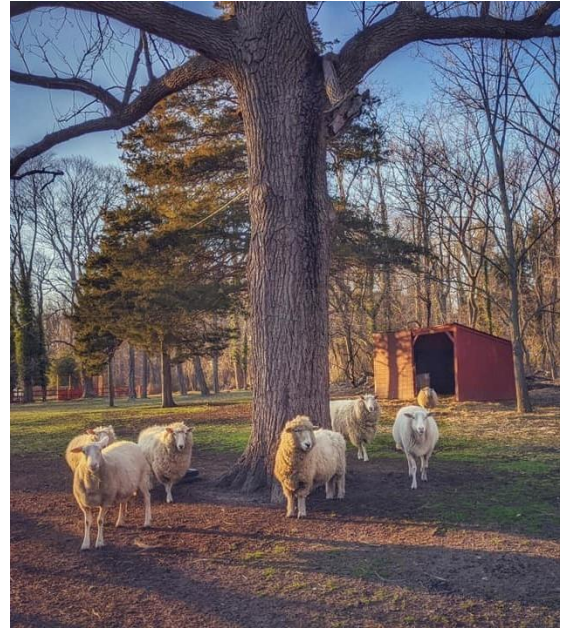

Programs run 10 AM-12:30 PM (with time for lunch afterwards)

*Indoor & Outdoor eating areas / flexible timing and child age

Farm Life in Early America

Learn about Long Island Rural Life in the 18th-19th centuries with a visit to our Franklin Arthur Farmhouse.

Hands-On Activities include: wool carding, spinning, weaving on full-size looms, using and crafting hand-made toys each child can take home, and learning about flax growing. Children visit our farm animals and explore our 19th century barn and outbuildings.

A Day in the Life of an 18th Century Innkeeper

Visit the Epenetus Smith Tavern, a place of significant Revolutionary War activity, and experience what life was like for 18th-century children and Epenetus Smith, a local businessmen and Patriot.

Hands-On Activities include: dipping candles, painting a tavern sign, writing a letter with quill and ink, and drawing a silhouette.

Contact our Office Manager (at 631-265-6768 and officemanager@smithtownhistorical.org) for more information on any of these programs, and to book your visit!
